

The Center for Consumer Law and Education

ABOUT THIS AWARD

The Center for Consumer Law & Education (CCLE) at Marshall University is pleased to open the application period for faculty scholar opportunities. The committee will award up to $5,000 for the opportunity to pursue scholarship (broadly defined) on a topic of choice concerning consumer law and policy, collaborate with the CCLE staff in shaping the strategic dissemination of their experiences, and contribute to the university community. The number of awards will be determined each application period. For example, but not limited to, the CCLE will fund projects that enable faculty to research how the WV State Legislature feels about a required financial literacy program in the K-12 schools or raise awareness of consumer issues such as student loan indebtedness through a faculty-led symposium on campus, and/or send faculty to conferences that share our values and mission. The faculty will help fulfill the mission of the Center, educating consumers and partners about consumer law, assist with the development of public policy, and make a meaningful impact on the advancement of consumer law and policy.

ELIGIBILITY

Full-time faculty on a 3-year term appointment, tenure-track appointment, or tenured appointment are eligible to apply. (Term faculty must apply during the first or second year of the 3-year term.)

EXPECTATIONS

The Center for Consumer Law & Education Faculty Scholarship Opportunity aims to encourage faculty to pursue issues related to consumer law and/or policy. The CCLE will also consider other areas of faculty interest or expertise. The faculty will be asked to produce some artifact of writing regarding their topic or experiences, depending on the opportunity in which they participated. Faculty will also be asked to participate in university events as asked, and depending on their availability.
